James Futrell Is Killed In Plane Crash Thursday

A Murray boy was killed yesterday afternoon along with his flight instructor when a twin engine OV-1 Mohawk plane crashed into a field near Blakely, Georgia.

Mrs. Ralph Jenkins, who lives near the scene, said she saw the plane fall into a field and burn clear Georgia Highway 39. She said that the plane apparently had engine trouble and was moving into position to attempt a landing.

Futrell was in his second week of an eight week training course and was assigned to the 11th Air Reconnaissance Division at Fort Benning, Georgia.

He is survived by his wife Brenda Busham Futrell of Owensboro, Kentucky; his mother, Mrs. Vessie Futrell of Murray; a son, a daughter, a brother and a sister.

Letter to the Editor

Ledger & Times

To the Editor:

Happy Chandler has not been content with dividing his own political party, but he is vigorously working toward a division of the AFL-CIO in Kentucky.

On a recent television program Mr. Chandler's, the announcer blandly referred to an AFL-CIO endorsement! This falsehood is only one of many that Mr. Chandler and his supporters have caused to be circulated to confuse and wrong people of this state. We once took a four year course in "ABC" and we know all his tricks. We remember that he brought the anti-labor "right-to-work" bill out of his hand-picked Senate Committee with a "favorable" report and held it over our heads to defeat labor's legislative program on March 14, 1968. We remember that he promised "no tax increases" in return for our support in 1966 and then placed 140,000 of the poorest people on the income tax rolls during his first three months in office. We remember that he did nothing for four years about our state's minimum wage order. We remember that he had only one safety inspector for the entire state, who "operated out of his home" and couldn't be found.

Is it any wonder that nineteen members of the twenty-three member Executive Board of the Kentucky State AFL-CIO are for Ned Breathitt? Is it any wonder that the President, Vice President, Legislative Chairman, and Executive Secretary of the Kentucky State AFL-CIO are all serving on Mr. Breathitt's Labor Committee. We must rid the state of Chancellors such as he and for all the sooner the better. We are proud that our good name is not associated with a campaign as revolting as the one conducted by Mr. Chandler.

Sincerely,

Sam Ezelle

Executive Secretary

After 15 Years at MSC, Dr. Parsons Will Retire

After 50 years in the field of education and active teaching, Dr. Rhey Boyd Parsons is retiring.

Dr. Parsons will not leave teaching completely but will teach as much as possible, because his life has been dedicated to education.

Dr. Harry Sparks, head of the education and psychology department said:

Large Agenda Is Handled By City Council Here Last Night

The Murray City Council last night approved the purchase of a street washer, bought four new tires for a Sanitation System truck and reviewed the tentative paving program of the city for the summer months.

Two bids were received on the street washer. This includes a pump and tank which will be mounted on a one and one-half ton truck chassis which will be purchased locally.

Mr. Lassiter said that the list of streets totaled 9400 feet and that the city's share of the cost of the paving will be $9,000. This paving does not include Circumference and Whinnell which are included in other projects for later in the summer.

All of the above is on a tentative basis it was pointed out.

Lassiter pointed out that oil and chip treatment of a street runs 20 cents per foot while oil only is about 10 cents per foot. The use of oil alone on a street was not recommended.

Mr. Lassiter also broached the

FLY-BOYS MAKE GOOD

Flight Program Leads to Private Pilot's License At Murray State

READY TO SOLO? . . . Joe Nanne, senior, Benton, confers with Mr. Ed Adams, flight instructor from Barkley Field in Paducah, at Kyle Field outside Murray. Eighteen of the 39 hours of flight instruction are spent solo flying.

When will they receive their pilots' licenses? After they have gotten all their flight hours worked off, the flying instructors may recommend them for their final test. A Federal Aviation Agency representative will give the test, and if the student passes, he can proudly say he is an official pilot.

Noticed any airplanes, buzzing the girls' dorms lately? It's probably the boys in the ROTC flight program! Actually, these fellows take the program very seriously, for if they pass their final test, it will mean that they will receive their private pilot's license; also, they are receiving about $600 worth of instruction free, and when they go into the army, they will make up to $250 extra a month.

The nine seniors who are taking the flight instruction are: Jerry Shroat, Murray; Coleman McDevitt, Murray; Joe Nanne, Benton; Ron Barlow, Paducah; James Reynolds, Paducah; Glynn Bradley, Fulton; Ronnie Adams, Hopkinsville; Stephen Wood, Owensboro; and Jerry Roberts, Cerulean.

Three members of the Murray State ROTC department are also taking the instruction and paying for it personally. One of them, Captain Vaughn Ross, has already received his private pilot's license. Still working on it are Captain James Perkins and Captain Jack Biggerstaff.

If the flight instructors do not recommend the student, the FAA will give him an evaluation ride to determine whether he should go on in aviation work.

Captain Ross of the ROTC department highly commended this flight program. "This is a great opportunity for students interested in a military career," he stated. "This year has been fairly successful, and we hope to have an even better program next year."

Two instructors from Barkley Field in Paducah are teaching the course. Mr. Phillip Scott is ground instructor, and flight instructor is Mr. Ed Adams. Completion of the course includes 35 hours of class instruction, which have already been completed. This instruction includes discussions of flight theory, basic flight instruments, meteorology, navigation, and related ground subjects, such as safety rules, and Federal Aviation Agency regulations.

The other half of the program consists of 39 and one-half hours of flight instruction. Twenty-one and one-half of these hours are spent in dual instruction (flying with the instructor, Mr. Adams). The other 18 hours are spent solo flying.

The plane in which the flight instruction is given is a Cessna 145, which is a single-engine aircraft having between 85 and 100 horsepower.

On their solo flights the students fly to other airports including Bowling Green, Dyersburg, Kentucky Dam, and Paducah.

DR. HARRY SPARKS

Dr. Harry M. Sparks, who has been head of the Education Department at Murray State College since 1952, has received almost every honor available to an educator in Kentucky.

During his years of teaching, (which began as a high school teacher and basketball coach and ranged from there through high school principal, school superintendent, professor of education, and finally head of the Murray State Education Department), he has been president of the Kentucky Education Association, member of the National Education Association Ethics Committee, and has held numerous offices in local education organizations. He was recently asked to testify before an education sub-committee of the United States House of Representatives, which was conducting hearings on proposed vocational education legislation.

Dr. Sparks is presently seeking the Democratic nomination for Kentucky Superintendent of Public Instruction and has been endorsed for the post by both major candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor.

A prolific and brilliant public speaker, Dr. Sparks spoke throughout Kentucky in support of the Minimum Foundation Program, and he has been given much credit for the program's being enacted into law. While president of KEA, he made another extensive speaking tour of the state, urging adequate financing of the Foundation Program, and again, his efforts were given much credit for the budget increase that made the program a fact as well as a law.

Dr. Sparks holds an Ed.D. (Doctor of Education) Degree from the University of Kentucky. He received his M.A. Degree from the University of Kentucky and his A.B. Degree from Transylvania College, Lexington, Kentucky. He also attended Bethany College in West Virginia and studied law one year at the University of Kentucky.

During the war Dr. Sparks served with the U.S. Navy from 1944 to 1946. He held the rank of Lieutenant Commander.

Prior to his war service, Dr. Sparks was principal at Russell Senior High School from 1941 to 1943. He was superintendent of Irvington schools from 1934 to 1941. He was principal of Mayfield High School when he was appointed to the Murray State faculty.

Dr. Sparks' first assignment after graduation from college was at Breckinridge County High School at Hardinsburg where he taught and coached from 1931 to 1934.

At Murray, Dr. Sparks has taken an active part in the work of the Murray Methodist Church. He is a teacher of a senior youth Sunday school class and a member of the official board of the church.

Dr. Sparks, a native of Mt. Vernon, Kentucky, is married to the former Miss Lois Ogden Stiles of Irvington, Kentucky. They have three children: Harry Jr., who is studying architecture at the University of Cincinnati; Philip, a freshman pre-med student at Murray State, and Susan, a junior at Murray High School.

Graham's 146 Paces Golfers to 2d in OVC; Netters' Runner-up Finish Surprises League

Tennis:

Coach Chad Stewart's netters fought Western down to the wire last weekend at Cookeville, Tenn., before losing out to the heavily favored Hilltoppers for the OVC title by a three-point margin, 25-22.

Eastern, which was expected to give Western its toughest challenge, scored 18 points. The host Tennessee Tech coach stated this was the strongest overall tournament he had seen in his eight years in the OVC.

Murray was the surprise team of the tournament. The Murray men, or had stated the warning in The College News last week and the squad did finish above expectations.

Jerry Rhoads, winner at No. 5 singles, and the David Payne-Tom Higgins doubles team, winner at No. 2 doubles, paced the Murray uprising.

Western won the first four singles positions to score 20 of its points and recapture the crown won by Murray last year.

A victory in each final counts two points. One point is given for entering and one for each victory other than the finals.

Larry "Pancho" Whitaker, a junior transfer from University of Cincinnati, won the No. 1 singles, 6-4, 6-0, over Sam Nutty of Eastern, the No. 2 seeded player in the event.

After losing the first set, Nutty had come back to down MSA's Bill Bowen in a semi-final battle, 3-6, 6-0, 6-4. In what Coach Stewart termed "as good a match in a losing cause as you will ever see played."

Payne reached the finals in No. 3 singles where he was beaten by Western's Don Meyer, 2-6, 6-0, 6-1, Sunday. A Murray victory here would have given the team championship to the Racers as the title competition boiled down to a two-horse race.

The Hilltoppers' Bob Smith downed the Thoroughbreds' Bob Tracy, 6-2, 6-2, in the semi-final match on his way to winning the No. 3 singles position.

Smith defeated Tom Dean of East Tennessee in the final, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2. Tracy had scored an impressive come-from-behind victory over Eastern's Jerry Sanders, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4, in the first round.

Terry Tiffin lost to Eastern's 30-year old coach and an undergraduate student, Roy Davidson, by a 6-0, 6-4 score in the semi-finals. Dan Day of Western beat Davidson in the finals, 2-6, 7-5, 6-4, for a crucial Western win.

Rhoads defeated Rodgers of Tech, 6-2, 6-3, and Combs of Morehead, 6-0, 6-4, on his march into the finals. The first seed in No. 5 singles defeated Eastern's Dennis Rick to cap the title, 6-8, 6-3, 6-6, in a superbly played match.

The veteran southpaw had a 5-1 lead in the first set before the Eastern lad ran off five straight games.

Because of rain only the first round of No. 1 doubles was played on Friday with all singles postponed until Saturday. The finals had to be played Sunday.

Murray's No. 1 doubles team gave the netmen an opening-day lift when it downed Western's first-seeded tandem of Whitaker-Smith in the first round in a 6-2, 1-6, 6-2 stunning upset.

The Racers pair had just to get the Hilltoppers' second in regular season matches, but the third time proved to be the charm for the Murray men.

After a semi-final win, Bowen-Tracy lost in the finals to Nutty-Lou Hell of Eastern, 6-2, 7-5. A victory here combined with a Western loss in any of the first four singles would have given Murray the conference crown.

Payne-Higgins successfully defended their No. 2 doubles title. The machine-like duet moved down

Western's Meyer-Day in the finals, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1, as the American-twist serve and Payne's bombing overheads teamed with Higgins' steadiness and intestinal fortitude to triumph.

The No. 1 seeded team had downed Middle's No. 2 team in the first round 6-2, 6-2, and Eastern's Sanders-Reck, 6-0, 6-4, in the semi-finals.

Thus Thoroughbred seniors Rhoads and Payne completed their college tennis careers in A-1 fashion and brought home two of Murray's three gold medals.

Despite the loss, Coach Stewart believes the tennis squad should be tougher next year if he lands some of the prospects contacted along with the addition of Bob Cooper. He was the OVC No. 1 singles champion last year, but was scotched ineligible to compete this season.

Golf:

Bill Graham fired an even-par 72 Saturday to capture medalist honors for the second straight year in the OVC golf tournament. He paced the Murray team to second place in the Friday-Saturday meet at Cookeville, Tenn.

The Racers finished 15 strokes off the winning pace set by Middle Tennessee. The Blue Raiders' top four men completed the meet with 598 total to capture the crown for the fourth straight year.

Murray's four low men were Graham, Bobby English, Mullen, and Lynn Newton, with total of 613.

Mary Forsee Accepted For Peace Corps Work

Miss Mary Forsee, 1962 graduate of MSC, was one of the 42 Peace Corps volunteers who left for Liberia last week to teach in elementary schools there.

Miss Forsee, who is from Belle Glade, Fla., was a member of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education society; Student National Education Association; Association for Childhood Education; and the International Relations Club.

days 18 holes of play, Graham came back with an even-par 72 Saturday to edge Middle's two aces, Gary Head and Jack Haley, by two strokes, 146-148.

Graham shot consistently good golf for the 36-hole tourney, and on the 150-yard No. 6 hole Saturday an eagle-two.

Bobby English shot the second low score for the Racers, putting together rounds of 39, 40, 38, and 38 for 155 total.

Larry Mullen and Lynn Newton were one stroke back at 156. Mullen had 79 Friday and a five-over par 77 Saturday. Newton had two rounds of 78.

Paul Jett was fifth for Coach "Buddy" Hewitt's linksmen with a 161 total score. Jett fired a 78 Friday, but soared to an 83 on Saturday.

Joe Belote was two strokes behind Jett with a 163 total. Belote shot rounds of 82 and 81.

Coach Hewitt stated that he was very pleased with the team's overall play, although he thought that the team "did not play up to its full potential."

He was very impressed by the play of Middle Tennessee. "They'll be real strong for two more years," he added.

Last year the Racers got "no" finished third, led until the final nine holes.

Mrs. Ronald Adams Hostess For Meet New Concord Club

The New Concord Homemakers Club met Wednesday, May 8, at one o'clock in the afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ronald Adams.

Mrs. Charlie Stubblefield, president, presided. Fifteen members answered the roll call by telling what each like best about the out of doors. Two visitors were Mrs. Charles McCusick and Mrs. Barletta Wrascher.

The devotion was given by Miss Erin Montgomery on the parable of talents. The landscape notes were by Mrs. T. R. Edwards who asked that each one pay special attention to the ornamental trees around including the flowering crab and golden rain tree. She described the latter and Mrs. Wrascher pointed out that several had been or will be planted in the city beautification projects. Iris, tulips, and jonquils removed before seed pods form to keep the hybrid plants from going back to the original, Mrs. Edwards said.

Mrs. Larry Curd and Mrs. T. R. Edwards gave the lesson on "Deserts." Several useful tips were given which were to always add sugar gradually to meringue, custards can be fed to all ages in the family, and to plan meals early in the morning.

Flint Baptist WMS Has Special Meet For Anniversary

A special feature was a fashion parade by the members of the Girls Auxiliary who this year are celebrating their 50th anniversary. The girls modeled clothes between the years 1913 and 1963.

The GAs also quoted some of their work and were assisted by their leaders, Mrs. Lula Miller and Miss Mary Lee Miller.

The recognition of the anniversary years of the WMU was given by members who were dressed in fashions of 75 years ago.

Mrs. Jesse Roberts sang "We've A Story To Tell To The Nations" and was accompanied by Mrs. Junior Garrison. The closing prayer was led by Odell Colson.

Following the program a social hour was held in the educational building with refreshments of punch and cake being served. The cake was decorated with a 50 and a 75 and the colors of the WMU and GA were used in the decorations.

Miss Sandra McClure, June 7th bride-elect of Jerry Henry, was complimented recently with a buffet supper.

The supper was held at the home of Mrs. B. C. Grogan and was given by the teachers of the Primary I Department of the Sunday School of the First Baptist Church for which Miss McClure has served as pianist for four years.

For the occasion the honoree chose to wear a green ensemble with white accessories. She was presented with the coffee server of her chosen pattern of pottery, Ironstone, by the ladies.

Dear Abby . . .

Plea From A Newsboy!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a lovely, adorable girl who is 16 years younger than I am. (This could be the problem.) This charming lady says she loves me, but her mother would never approve of our marriage because of the age difference. She is devoted to her family and would never marry against their wishes. I waited ten years after my last marriage before considering marrying again, and believe I have found the girl. I am 38 and she is 22. I insist on an open courtship, but she refuses to be seen with me. Is age that important? Do you think she loves me, or is she just being kind to an "old man"? How can I win her?

STILL TRYING
DEAR STILL: You can't. And if you're wise, you'll quit trying.

DEAR ABBY: When people drop in unexpectedly late in the afternoon, are invited to stay for dinner but refuse (saying they have another appointment) and yet continue to visit well past dinner preparation time, is possible to start preparing dinner? This has happened several times. Yesterday the company left two hours after our usual dinner time.

DEAR MRS. C.: If you permit uninvited guests to delay your dinner two hours, you are asking for the inconvenience they have caused you. What's wrong with saying, "Excuse me—I have to prepare my dinner?"

DEAR ABBY: In the two years I have been a widow I have learned more than in all the years I was married. I never realized there were so many frightened, unsure married women around. If I need someone to help with the household chores or heavy work, I look in the classified ads. I'd rather pay $10 an hour than ask another woman's husband to do any favors.

SADDER BUT WISER
CONFIDENTIAL TO WILLING WIDOW: Make sure it's a gleam in his eye—not just the sun hitting his bifocals.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 3368, Beverly Hills, California and include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Abby answers ALL mail.

The New EMILIE LORING Follow Your Heart

CHAPTER 24

PENN MANOR is to sale. Jill Bellamy said to Jim Trevor, alias Peter Carr, the Clayton chauffeur. "I talked the governor, at the institute about it this morning. They didn't seem to approve of the idea, but I can't afford to wait. Mr. Clayton says there's plenty of time, but by the time I'm twenty-one someone else may have snatched it away. I can't bear it if only the owner would be willing to wait until I'm 18. I could call the real estate people and find out who he is."

"The owner is a man named Andrew Trevor. Jim told me. Andrew Trevor? Quest now his name keeps cropping up, doesn't it?"

"Does his name keep cropping up?"

At his sharp tone Jill laughed. "They don't bark at me like that."

"Sorry, but what do you know about Andrew Trevor?" Jill repeated the comments she had heard exchanged between Roger Clayton and Abraham Allen, and what Mrs. Mason had told her.

"Aunt Sally lost everything she had saved in the oil swindle, that's why she has to go on renting out rooms. But until her net most is losing her faith in Mr. Trevor. She thought he was the best man she had ever known. She liked his son, too, though she said she was afraid he had neglected his sick father because he was just about off his head over Denise Clayton."

"I expect a lot of people have been in the same state at one time or another," he said coolly. "But it's like catching cold. They get over it."

Jill looked at him swiftly and away. "Do they?"

"I suppose you've guessed — I loved her," he said steadily. Jill felt as though a giant hand had squeezed her heart. After all, what had she expected? Denise was distractingly pretty. She had qualities that would attract any man. Look at what she was doing now to Chester.

She got up hastily and began to repack the picnic basket with hands that trembled.

"Yes, I know — heard Denise say so one night. I didn't mean to eavesdrop. But —"

"But there is another kind of love," Jim said. He stood beside her, looking down. His voice was quiet, tender. "A man loves the love that endures and burns like a steady flame after the fever of a boy's infatuation has gone out. The only real love I never had that to give to Denise."

Jill's breath came fast. Unexpectedly, his hand covered hers. "Wait a little, Jill. As Mr. Clayton says, there's plenty of time. There's a bright future for you — for us." Laughter edged his words. "I read it in the leaves. And in my crystal, too, I see you living in this house, ruling it with sunshine even on the darkest days, with children around you and a — an adoring husband."

"What a wonderful fortune teller you are," she tried to speak lightly, to cover her confusion. She looked up to see his eyes smiling at her.

"You like the fortune?"

"It's — perfect."

"And what about the fortune teller? No words of approval for him?"

QHE remembered Dan Holt's words. She's got something any woman would fall for. And Denise's warning. That's his stock in trade.

"You ought to make a profession of it," she said lightly. She dared not look at him, afraid her eyes would betray her. "Let's explore the house. Do you know what I'd like to do? Give a dinner party here and cook the meal myself."

"Why not?"

"Well, there's no electricity for lights and stove and refrigeration."

"I'll see the real estate people and arrange it," Jim said. "I'll also ask them to hold up the sale of Penn Manor."

"Peter! Do you think they would?"

"I think they would," he said gravely, but with a glint of humor in his eyes. "But before you explore the house I have something to show you. And before that, I have something to tell you — to lead up to the grand climax."

He fumbled in his pockets. "Damn! I keep forgetting that I left my pipe at home."

Jill opened her nandbag and handed him the broken pieces of his pipe. "Is this it?"

"Where on earth did you find that?"

"In the Claytons' swimming pool this morning."

"So that's what happened! Then I had better tell you how it got there."

He described how he had decided to look for the boxes that had been removed from the warehouse before the fire, and how he planned to start by searching the Bennett garage. "Because gas from my car was probably used to start the fire."

"Smart gal. Got it in one," he went on to repeat the conversation he had overheard and now he had been thrown into the pool to keep him from identifying the two men.

"So that — Peter! That man who talked about hiding. Do you think he could possibly have been John Jones?"

"I'm dead sure of it."

"Peter!" She caught hold of his arm. "What is this about? Have you any idea?"

"Don't look so little and frightened. You're all eyes," he laughed unselfishly.

"I'm neither scared nor helpless," she retorted. "But I am bewildered. I don't understand any of this. Not at all. Do you?"

"I think I do," he said slowly. "I haven't a scrap of proof, but I have a strong suspicion that everything that has happened is tied up with the Bellamy Institute."

Jill frowned. "But what would that man Jones have to do with the institute?"

"I'm not sure. But I'd be willing to make a fairly large bet that something is wrong in the way the institute is being managed."

"The Praxiteles bust?" Jill said quickly, "and the missing pages of the catalogue?"

"What catalogue?" Jim asked quickly.

Jill told him about the professors and Chester checking the catalogue that morning. Some pages were missing. The Praxiteles bust was not listed on the pages they had.

"So it was right! There was a triumphant gleam in Jim Trevor's eyes. "But what was Chester Bennett doing there?"

Jill explained that he had apparently gone to replace his father to make up for the quarrel that had caused his father's heart attack. There had been something wrong between them for some time. Mr. Bennett seemed to be keeping an eye on his son, to be worried about him.

She looked up to find him watching her speculatively. She was very cool in speaking of the man she was engaged to marry, he thought. Surely she could not be in love with him.

"Well, see whether we can produce some evidence," he said. "Just follow me, madam."

"Evidence of what?"

"Evidence to back up my theory that someone is systematically robbing the institute of its treasures."

"Oh, no," Jill protested. "That's impossible. The governors are men whom my father trusted implicitly."

"Just the same, someone took those boxes out of the warehouse. And what's more — I've found them."

The past rises to haunt Jim as "Follow Your Heart" continues here on Monday.

Let's Continue With Progressive Road Building

$2,262,370.00 spent on Calloway County roads in the past three years!

14 Concrete Bridges and 12 Multiplate Arch Pipes replacing wooden bridges, compared to one bridge under Mr. Chandler and location on this bridge moved.

17,800 feet (over 3 miles) metal drainage pipe for Calloway roads. Chandler forced Calloway Fiscal Court to buy pipe under his administration.

Calloway County Fiscal Court has not been forced to buy drainage pipe, furnish men, and road graders to construct these roads. People on these roads have not had to pay for dozers to clear right-of-ways, and buy metal pipes out of their own pockets. There has been no wooden bridges left on these roads, as they were under the Chandler reign. The citizens of Calloway are proud of these roads and rightfully so.

There is no $100,000.00 Kerby Jennings Trail to a hoped for private subdivision here. This administration has let no contract for a sidewalk, curb and gutter, 60 foot blacktop road going by a Chandler political hench-man's home. There is no Johns Road here!

These roads under this administration are constructed for all Calloway people in all parts of Calloway, not for special sections.

Mr. Chandler, why not tell the people of Calloway County about the ditching contract? Work half-way done with state equipment, with a pay-off to contractors. Tell them about the concrete pipe plant located near the depot. Tell them about the home in Murray on which state materials were used and the yard sodded with state golf course sod.
